
Achieve Your Optimal MLR Review Process

If you struggle with your medical, legal, regulatory (MLR) review process, you're not alone. Life science companies have to balance getting content to market quickly to support their sales teams, while ensuring accuracy and compliance. Often, the MLR review process is characterized by long meetings and review cycles; organizations are simply surviving on their process, instead of thriving on it.

Enter Pepper Flow®—cloud-based MLR review software built exclusively for life science companies. Our pre-validated product simplifies the way you route, review, and approve promotional content, allowing you to get critical content to market faster while simultaneously mitigating compliance risk.

ACCELERATE SPEED TO MARKET

As a life science organization, you spend significant time and resources developing promotional content—let's get it into the hands of your key audiences faster. Pepper Flow cuts your process time from hours to minutes.

MITIGATE COMPLIANCE RISK

Compliance risk is real, and noncompliance can result in hefty fines and operational setbacks. With so much to manage, the more automated compliance can be, the better. Pepper Flow's built-in features automate and enforce compliance, enabling a streamlined process and peace of mind.

COLLABORATE EFFORTLESSLY

High-functioning teams make it easier to achieve your business objectives. Improve how your team collaborates by enabling real-time reviews from any location and reducing team frustration through reduced review cycles.

ROLLOUT & ADOPT QUICKLY

MLR review software doesn't need to be complicated. Implementation of Pepper Flow is simple, streamlined, and requires minimal time and effort from you. Furthermore, the user experience and design is intuitive and easy-to-learn—meaning you and your team will be up and running after just one training session.
